

Encryption and data protection

Decision:

Bcrypt is to be used for user password hashing and important files need to be saved as environment variables.

Status:

Approved

Context:

User data needs to be protected from potential security threats, bcrypt offers a simple hashing protection method without the need for external software.

Consequence:

User data is safely secured.